

A Christian named Boniface started the tradition of the Christmas tree to remind people to keep Christ at the center of their households.